Care for shared places

One practical stewardship action for a place we all share — and hand on to the next class.

A shared place is left messy for whoever comes next. What does that cost them?

You can always pass, write your answer privately, or use a made-up example.

Genesis 2:15

“The LORD God took the man and put him in the Garden of Eden to work it and take care of it.”

Genesis 2:15, New International Version (NIV)

CHRISTIAN CONNECTION

Caring for a place is a job God gives people, not a chore we do only while we are watched. Working a shared place and taking care of it means leaving it ready for whoever comes next.

Which actions would really care for this shared place?

List what the courtyard needs, and who is affected by each need.

1 Report the dripping tap and check that it gets fixed

3 Photograph one tidy corner and leave the rest as it is

5 Sort the shed tools and agree a put-away routine

Sort the six cards, then design one practical stewardship action that names who does what, and when.

2 Give one student litter duty every lunchtime

4 Leave it — the next class can sort the courtyard out

6 Weed the vegetable bay and label the rows for next year

Test each card: is it practical? Is the work shared? Will it still help after we leave?

“My one stewardship action is ...and it will still help the next class because ...”

Write this one privately — you don't have to share it.

TAKEAWAY

One practical stewardship action, finished properly, is how we hand on a shared place.
